For the Patriot. To My Sister

BY J. D. STILES.

Lines written in a letter, on receiving one from her, with the exhortation, "Remember thy Sis-

Remember thee, my sister dear,-Thy image sweet is engraved here,-Upon the tablet of my mind, Thy lovely self lies deep enshrined.

Whatever spot on earth I go, My thoughts in love to thee will flow; Tried friendship may in darkness set, But one true heart will not forget.

I take from out my waistcoat pocket, That deep-treasured, priceless locket, And gaze upon that lovely face, Which Time from mind can ne'er erase.

The sweetest virtues I there trace, In every feature of thy face; I read thy jewelled heart, and find, The same response which beats in mine

I look upon the other side, And there behold thy faithful guide; Whose long-tried promises, and sure, Through countless ages will endure.

O! long upon my mem'ry's scroll, Thy image bright will stand enrolled; Within my mind 'twill find a place, Which endless time can ne'er efface.

"Though lost to sight, to mem'ry dear," Is the motto which you find here; And yet, thou art not lost to sight,-I see thee still, in visions bright.

When earth returns to its cold clod,-The soul sours up to live with God,-O! may our hearts in Heaven unite, To live in endless love and light.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

There has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has implest Grave Stone or Tab- been prepared to meet that demand, and an extenlet to the most elegant and sive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with elaborate Monument is execu- what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the com-plaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side petite, Listlessness, Irritability, Billous Headache, Billous Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, necessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will appear a better purpose them any thing which has body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being sugar-wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

For minute directions see wrapper on the Box.

This remedy has won for itself such notoriety rom its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. CALEB PACKARD.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed.

It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruc-tion or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the com-plaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required. They have also produced some singularly suc-

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but

Life on the Ocean

Sentimentalists all have a notion, (Those who get their ideas second-hand,) That a life on the limitless ocean Is "inspiring," " exciting," and "grand;"
If they only had one Cape Horn view Of a storm and a nautical scene, They would wish the deep ocean-like blue Were changed to invisible green.

A life on the fathomless deep Is to eat, grow sea-sick, and drink; Like old Rip Van Winkle to sleep, Too indolent even to think. When a dead calm prevails on the ocean, I storm like a growling old grumbler, And with feet in perpetual motion, Practice all the strange feats of a "tumbler."

One night in a terrible roll, Like a pancake my body was found, The feeling was certainly droll, The rolling had rolled me up round ! Of my friend in the berth overhead, The physician had hardly a hope; He was taken out seemingly dead, Coiled up like a huge coil of rope.

Of each coming monotonous day It is terrible even to think; Time is only a blank on life's way Months into oblivion sink; Days seem to be weeks as they fly, Lengthened out by some magical power; But months, when the time has passed by, Are compressed into one listless hour.

And hence I am right in the main, In calling the main a delusion, Though it certainly was with much pain I was forced to this painful conclusion. A humbug I deem the blue ocean, My sentiments plainly to tell. Forever, like Yankees in motion, And eternally cutting a swell.

To the County Commissioners for the County of Norfolk, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:

HE undersigned respectfully represent that a public highway, commencing on Willard street, in the town of Milton near the blacksmith's shop of Amos Poole, and running nearly in a southwester-ly direction, through land of the Granite Railway Co., the land of the heirs of John Rowe, the land of G. W. Hall, the land of Jos. Rowe, the land of Edward Cunningham, the land of J. M. Forbes, the land of C. M. S. Churchill, the land of Ebeu Field, the land of widow of Asaph Churchill, and land of Joseph Hunt, to Pleasant street, so called, near the house of Joseph Hunt, would be a great public accommodation. The travel between the two points is very considerable. The distance saved by the road prayed for, is about one-third of the whole. Many physicians express themselves strongly in the belief that it is decidedly the best preparation of Sarsaparilla that has ever been placed before the public. Although there are many physicians who feel a mendation of any particular remedy, notwithstanding they may approve of it in the highest degree, there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good in an afflicted community. Poetry.

For the Patriot.

Lines Written at the bed-side of a sick child. BY MISS ELIZABETH R. TORREY.

Disease! withdraw thy ruthless hands Now laid upon this fair young brow; Oh! quick dissolve these mortal bands, Which chain life's currents as they flow. Release thy prey; for not to thee, Can we give up this beauteous flower ; Such wondrous leveliness must be Far, far, beyond thy utmost power.

It must be so; some angel hand Hath just dissolved thy fatal spells; And, from the golden sunny land,-As many an ancient legend tells,-Whole troops of angel-guards do fly, To shield him from thy poisoned darts, Restore new lustre to his eye; And peace to our despairing hearts.

Sweet messengers of peace and love! Blest guards of helpless infancy! Who stand before the throne above, And see the face of God most high; To your protection, Heavenly Powers! We give our fair and suffering boy; O! shield him, when the tempest lowers, And long preserve our life-our joy!

> The Heart of "Seventy-Six." BY JANE GAY.

When our great mother's hand essayed To whip and make us yield; Our stubborn sires quick foot-prints made For camp and battle-field! The lawyer quit his client then, The parson, wig and gown, And hosts of panting husbandmen Left ploughshares in the ground!

Banners of snowy mists were flung

Over one Autumn morn, When a matron and two maidens young. Went reaping harvest-corn! The maidens were of gentle blood, Lofty that matron's brow: "Thou wear'st no weeds of widowhood-Where rests thy husband now?"

" Rests! "-and she haughtily began: " I joy to know that he Fights foremost in the battle's van, For Home and Liberty! And I have taken in my hand The sickle in his stead, For patriot women of the land Should reap the winter's bread! "

"Thou elder maiden, thy fair brow Rivals our mountain shows, And on thy cheek scarce lingers now The fairest tint of rose! I met thee, ere the summer-tide, A dreamer light and gay; A manly form was at thy side Where doth the loiterer stay? "

And proudly then that maid replied: " My love is not one To linger at a lady's side, While glorious deeds are done! He stands where battle-thunder jars, And plumes of warriors wave, Bearing the ' Eagle and the Stars,'

The ensign of the brave! "

" And thou, my little maiden dear, Thou hast not strength, I ween, To bind the heavy bundles here, Or arge the sickle keen! Call thy young brother from his play! Why doth that tear-drop start? She said-" He is a volunteer, And bears a manly heart !

" We taught him lessons of the strife, And how to bear a gun, And told him that a hero's life Was best in youth begun. And then he took a powder-horn, Which our dread grandsire gave, Shouldered his gun, and one bright morn, Went forth to join the braye!"

" And are ALL gone-husband and sou-

Lover and brother—all!
Ye lofty-hearted, still toil on! No evil can befall A country struggling mightily To give young Freedom birth; The unborn infant yet shall be The Guant of the Earth!"

ting drawl she could affect, inquired if they had any " subdued mouse-colored silk?" " No," replied the draper, with a sudden and expressive twirl of the yard stick, "but we have some enraged rat-color."

"Pray," said Mr. — to a gentleman he overtook on the road, " will you have the kindness to take my great coat in your car-riage to town." "With pleasure, sir; but how will you get it again?" "Oh very easy," replied the modest applicant, " I shall remain in it."

"Have you not mistkaen the pew, sir?" blandly said a Sunday Chesterfield to a stranger, as he entered it. "I beg pardon," replied the intruder, rising to go out, "I fear and various other preparations for the cure of I have-I took it for a Christian's."

An honest Dutchman, on being asked how often he shaved, replied-" Dree dimes a

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative sive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bow-els. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complicable are given on the box. plaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the con-sequence of diseased action in the liver. As an sequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their tite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but un-necessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being sugar-wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity. For minute directions see wrapper on the box.

CHERRY PECTORAL, For the rapid Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH,

CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION. This remedy has won for itself such notoriety from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its use-fulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for CHILDREN it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best that it ever has been, and that the genuine article is sold by— MIS. L. HAYDEN, SOLE AGENT.

He says, " I will agree with him that all the great Christian schools, founded previous the twelfth century, were Catholic, since there was no other Christian religion then in existence." I can not see how any man of common sense, convinced of this fact, can say that Catholics are opposed to education. During these dark ages were founded schools without number, and universities in almost every nation which received the Christian faith, Those of Oxford, Pavia, Paris, Rome, Bologno, Ferrara, were founded before or during the twelfth century. Those of Cambridge, Prague, Bohemia, Louvain, Vienna Ingolstadt, Leipsic, Basle, Salamanca, Alcala, &c., were all founded before the sixteenth century. Are these the evidences of a faith opposed to education?

The moment Catholics were able to do so, they erected schools, then colleges, and now they have founded an university, which will very soon make "Old Trinity" look to its character. If "Cervantes" will only look into history, he will find that when Ireland was Catholic, there was no want of universities, nor of students to fill them. The names alone of all the institutions of learning in Ireland, and the students attending them at one time, would fill a large volume. Loursville, May 20th, 1349

We have used John Bull's Sersaparilla, and have known it to be used, with entire satisfaction; and we have no hesitation in stating our belief, that it is a safe and valuable medical compound, and calculated to produce much good and relieve much suffering; and therefore would cheerfully and most carnestly recommend it to the stilling.

We enguestly invite all persons who are suffering with any of "the ills that flesh is heir to," to call on Dr. John Buil's agent, and get a copy of Eull's Family Journal agarts; and for the sake of humanity, we hope that a single individual will not be found untailing to give Bull's Sarsaparilla a Terat. after reading, and recollecting, at the same time, that it is impossible for the bestor to publish the tenth part of the number of crafficates of astounding cures peformed by his Sarsaparilia. The amount of restimony voluntarity showered on Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla, from well known and distinguished individuals, both in public and private life, has been perfect, overwhelming.

For the Patriot. A Wish.

TO OUR TEACHER, MISS BASSETT.

A wish, a wish, our happy teacher, We gladly for thee breathe, May blessings rich on thee descend, Nor aught thy heart deceive.

May grief's dark clouds ne'er rise at noon, Thy sun of joy to hide, Nor may thy fond hopes blight as soon As summer flowers have died.

May not old age come hastening on, With quick and heavy tread; But through a long and happy life, Be blessings on thee shed. Quincy, March 22, 1855.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extenbeen prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bow-els. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we plaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being sugar-wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity. For minute directions see wrapper on the Box.

from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it Quincy, Nov. 18, has been employed. So wide is the field of its use-fulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affec-tions of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Couchs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for CHILDREN it is the pleasantest and safest medicine

MR. But merely to inform him of the true state of affairs, and to state a few sober facts, I pen this short article. If his statements were true, his conclusions just. I would willingly coincide with him in all his opinions. But I will prove his statements unjust, and therefore his conclusions wrong. In his zeal to defend Catholicism, he appears to have forgotten Americanism, and to have changed from the offensive to the defensive.

When " Ciare " gave the statements in regard to the number of scholars in France, Austria, Prussia, and England, he knew it was an nufair statement, and tending to deceive the readers of the Patriot in regard to these nations. In the same manner we might say that Massachusetts was less zealous for education than New York, because she has much The only fair way is to give the rate of scholars to the population. GENERAL COURT. The legislators of this State have now entered upon the fifth month of their public service at the State House. The Governor has vetoed the bill loaning

State credit to the Vermont and Massachusetts Railroad. He takes the ground that the act is unconstitutional.

Resolutions have been reported in the House affirming the justice of the claims upon the United States for French spoliations, and denouncing the refusal of the United States to indemnify parties rightfully interested in them as a disgraceful repudiation of just obligations.

A resolve for a State tax of $450,000, has been reported in the House.

In the House, the article of amendmen of the Constitution (from the Senate) making all persons of foreign birth ineligible to office, came up, and an amendment was adopted making those who have resided in the United States twenty-one years eligible .--The resolve, as amended, was then adopted.

The Senate, by 27 year to 11 mays, has concurred with the House in requesting the Governor to remove Judge Loring.

An order has been introduced in the Senate, directing the committee on federal relations to consider and report what action should be taken by this Legislature for the protection of the rights of Massachusetts emigrants to Kansas against invasion and vi-

Bills have been reported-to incorporate the town of South Plymouth; to make the establishment of the truth of publications alleged to be libellous a sufficient justification; that a sore and grievous famine may not desto secure the daily reading of the Bible in our public schools; to authorize the appointment of commissioners in cities and towns for examing private schools, whether religious or secular; to create an agency for the Commonwealth to purchase pure liquors to supply town agents who may order the same.

Now for the Beach. On the 10th this month, the Lincoln House, at Black Rock, will be again opened by Joseph A. Rogers, who kept it the past season to great acceptance. This is one of the places to enjoy yourself, as the picturesque view, invigorating sea breeze, and the luxuries of the sea and beach prepared in Rogers' best style, renders a visit pleasant and acceptable. Mr. Rogers is well known here, and among his numerous friends a goodly number will certainly make him a visit.

It is a remarkable fact, that among the hundreds of eminent physicians who have examined the recipe by which Bull's Sarsaparila is prepared, not one has condemned it, but all approved it, and commend it is the highest terms. Many physicians express themselves strongly in the belief that it is decidedly the best prepared. ration of Sarsaparlia that has ever been placed before the public. Although there are many physicians who feel a reluctance to having their names appended to the recommendation of any particular remode, notwithstanding mendation of any particular remedy, notwithstanding they may approve of it in the highest degree, there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good in an afflicted community. As an enhence, read the following from old and respectable physicians, of high standing in the community in which they live: TESTIMONY.

Testimony like the following renders superfluous all comments on the efficacy of Buil's Sarsaparilla. From Dr. In P. Yandell, Professor of Chemistry in the Louisville Medical College: I have looked over the list of ingredients composing John Buil's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, and have no hesitation in saying that they form a safe compound and one that proof few swell in chronic diseases. L. P. YANDELL, M. D. to which it is applicable. Louisville, June 6, 1848.

What Dr. Pyles, physician by appointment to the Lou Isville Marine Hospital, says of Bull's Sarsaphrille: Louisville, March 20, 1859. I have examined the prescription for the preparation of John Bull's Sarsaparlila, and I believe the combination to be an excellent one, and well calculated to produce an alterative impression on the system. I have used it both in public and private practice, and think it the best article of Sarsaparilla now in use.

Lognon, Kr., April 25th, 1850. Sin-Permit me to address to you a few lines, and do my the honor to reply to a request that I will make in the conclusion of this letter, etc. I am a graduate of Transylvania Medical Enjewisits; I have practiced medicine in this wilderness country, about mouths. After having exhausted my skill in the treat to give your PLUID EXTRACT OF STREAMILEA a fair trial, and accordingly purchased a lottle of your medicine from your agent. Mr. George P. Brown, about two weeks ago. and I must confess that one bottle has entirely cure-line.

It is my opinion, that your preparation of Sarsaparii.a is decidedly superior to any other preparation, now in use and I will take great pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted as being a remodual agent, and I will advise the physicians to use it in their practice, etc.

Respectfully yours, B. B. ALLEN, M. D. LOUISVILLE, July 13th. 1849 I have examined the list of atticles that compose Joi Bull's Extract of Sarsaparita, and I have no hesitation is saying that it is a safe and validable compound. I would prefer it to any article now in use, for the diseases arising from an impure state of the blood or taint of the spation. I confidently recommend it to my friends as being a succedaneum to Mercury - Nay, I have my doubts whether in the most violent and protracted cases of Syphilis, accompanied with Nodes Trophe, in caries of th ones, whether it ought not to succeed every other remedy. Hear, what Dr. Stapp, a physician who stands at the top of less profession, says of John Bu. [2 Sarsaparilla: I have been using John Bu. Leusyness, May 20th, 1819 We have used John Ball's Sarsaparilla, and fiave known it to be used, with entire satisfaction; and we have no hesitation in stating our belief, that it is a safe and valuable needled compound, and calculated to produce much good and refleve much suffering; and therefor gould sheerfully and most earnessly recommend it to the

Five years have passed since Junie died; With tearful eye I now Gaze on the little lock of hair I severed from his brow; That golden tress once waved above A forehead clear and bright; Alas, that it so soon should lay In death so cold and white.

His ringing laugh is heard no more, Nor seen his bounding step; And eyes that watched his childish glee, O'er his pale form have wept. We saw him in his coffin laid; We stood around his bier; But one was missed from that sad group,-

His mother was not near. Far from the home he loved so well, His little spirit fled, And o'er her first-born's skrouded form Her tears she might not shed. Yet mourn not for the loved one lost.

He dwells in Glory now; A golden harp his fingers clasp, A crown rests on his brow.

He leaves his home of bliss, To press upon his mother's brow A cherub's holy kiss. He hovers round her in the dim And shadowy twilight hour; And though his form she may not see,

And oft on seraph pinions borne,

Her spirit feels his power. " Mother," the angel whisper saith, " Mourn not that I have fled, Nor think of me as one who sleeps Among the early dead. For what is Death? 'tis but aside This earthly form to cast,

A few brief struggles to endure, A pang, and all is past. All, all is o'er, Earth's pains have fled; A spirit form you'll rise,

And, with seraphic songs, rejoin Your Junie in the skies. Soon, soon above we all shall meet, In you bright spirit land, And love, and peace, and harmony, Pervade our happy band."

When will you think of me, kind Teacher? When will you think of me? When the rose of the rich mid-summer time Is filled with the hues of its glorious prime-When ye gather its bloom, as in bright hours

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bow-els. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity, but it is better that any medicine should quantity: but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the com-plaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Ap-petite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side petite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrotula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required. They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely

Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary design should never be carried too far. necessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being sugar-wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

CONSUMPTION. This remedy has won for itself such notoriety M. Swift, Milton; Wholesale and retail by Weeks from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparate to consequences. rent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affec-tions of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for CHILDREN it is the pleasantest and safest medicine

As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best that it ever has been, and that the genuine article is sold by— Mrs. E. HAYDEN, SOLE AGENT. Quincy, Oct. 28.

The winter passed away, and when spring came, Mr. Holmes found himself the owner of six dollars' worth of tools, and from the money that would have been worse than wasted had he not bought them. But this thing appeared in many ways for good. Now, that he had ability to fix up his buildings without borrowing tools, he began to take a degree of pride that he never felt before. He built racks and stands for his farming utensils, re-set his windows, fixed up his bee hives; and, during the rainy days, he found himself plenty of useful and profitable work to do. His children never wear worthless shoes now, nor do his cows break through the barn floor, but he is a happy, thriving farmer. His cows give as much milk, his bees make as much honey, his trees yield as many and as good apples, his chambers hold as much grain, and he gets as much money for his wool as does his neighbor Thompson; and all this is because he stopped his grog and bought his own tools, and left off depending on his neighbor for what he ought

Since the fourteenth century, clocks have been placed upon steeples and other conspicuous public buildings, in order that the people of cities and large towns might have uniformity, as well as facility in obtaining clock time. Hence, a simultaneousness of movements in all large cities, at appointed hours. Fanny Kendel gave to the town in England, where she had her cottage perch, a

A nobleman, celebrated for punctuality, who was to meet the king at twelve, was startled by the striking of the clock, as he was passing the ante-chamber. Enraged. Stand up here, my lazy rascals, and let us he smashed the dial with his cane. "Why "Grog money!" reiterated Holmes, in reason about your daily vocation. consciously assured. At Sierre Leone, the natives have a practice, in the sickly season, of keeping fires constantly burning in their Charlemagne, which was so arranged that huts at night, assigning that the fires keep rance, they attribute the fever and ague. Latterly, Europeans have begun to adopt the same practice, and those who have tried it assert that they have now entire immunity from the tropical fevers to which they were formerly subjected.

In the epidemics of the middle ages, fires used to be lighted in the streets for the purification of the air, and in the plague of London, in 1685, fires in the streets were at one time kept burning incessantly, till extinguished by a violent storm of rain. Latterly, trains of gunpowder have been fired and cannon discharged for the same object; but it is obvious that these measures, although sound in principle, must necessarily, out of doors, be on too small a scale, as measured against an ocean of atmospheric air, to produce any sensible effect. Within doors, however, the case is different. It is quite possible to heat a room sufficiently to produce a rarefaction and consequent dilution of any malignant gasses it may contain, and it is of course the air of the room, and that alone, at night, which comes in contact with the lungs of the person sleeping .- Westminster Review.

STATE SCHOLARSHIP. From the District comprising the towns of Braintree, Cohasset,

William Baxter of Quincy, has been elected a beneficiary of one of the State Scholarship. This young man, who is a son of William W. Baxter, Esq., an efficient member of the Board of School Committee of Quincy for the present year, has, we believe, been a member of our High School from its commencement, three years since, until the present time, and from which he will graduate, to enter Old Harvard, where he will have an opportunity to continue the course of study so successfully begun here. This is creditable to the individual, and also speaks well for the school he is about to leave, and we esteem it from this time, before the towns in this District will be entitled to another opportunity to present applicants. Let the success that has attended one of our boys, be an incite ment to others to be ready for the next chance, and so thorough and well grounded in the studies they have pursued, that when they

It is a remarkable fact, that among the hundreds of eminent physicians who have examined the recipe by which Bull's Sarsaparilla is prepared, not one has condemned it, but all approved it, and commend it in the highest terms. Many physicians express themselves strongly in the belief that it is decidedly the best preparation of Sarsaparilla that has ever been placed before the public. Although there are many physicians who feel a reluctance to having their names appended to the recommendation of any particular remedy, notwithstanding they may approve of it in the highest degree, there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good in an afflicted community. As an evidence, rend the good in an afflicted community. As an evidence, read the following from old and respectable physicians, of high standing in the community in which they live: TESTIMONY.

Testimony like the fellowing renders superfluous all comments on the efficacy of Bull's Sarsaparilla. From Dr. L. P. Yandell, Professor of Chemistry in the Louisville Medical College: I have looked over the list of ingredients composing John Bull's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, and have no hesitation in saving that they form and and have no hesitation in saying that they form a sa compound, and one that promises well in chronic disease to which it is applicable. Louisville, June 6, 1848. What Dr. Pyles, physician by appointment to the Lou-isville Marine Hospital, says of Bull's Sarasparillat Louisville, March 20, 1845. I have examined the prescription for the preparation of John Bull's Sarsaparila, and I believe the combination to be an excellent one, and well calculated to profuce an alterative impression on the system. I have used it both in public and private practice, and think it the best in public and private planticle of Sarsaparitla now in use.

M. P77.ES, M. B., Resident Physician Louisville Marine Hospital LOUDON, Ky., April 25th, 1850. Sin-Permit me to address to you a few lines, and do me the honor to reply to a request that I will make in the onclusion of this letter, etc. I am a graduate of Transylvania Medical University; I have practiced medicine in this wilderness country, about five years, but owing to exposure to bitter-cold weather, I have been indisposed with Acute Riemmatism about six months. After having exhausted my skill in the treatment of my case, and deriving no benefit, I was induced to give your FLUID EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA a fair trial, and accordingly purchased a bottle of your medicine from and I will take great pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted as being a remedial agent, and I will advise the

I have examined the list of articles that compose Joh Buil's Extract of Sarsaparilla, and I have no hesitation is saying that it is a safe and valuable compound. I wonly prefer it to any article now in use, for the diseases arisin from an impure state of the blood or tains of the system I confidently recommend it to my friends as being classes of diseases, for which it is recommended, it used according to directions. Poetry.

For the Patriot. To my Brother. In answer to poetry inserted in the Patriot of April 7th, dedicated, " To my Sister."

O! " Home is not home without you," My brother, fondly loved and true; In every thing around I see, Reminds me, dearest one, of thee.

No joys can man to me impart, Like those which come from thy dear heart; No soul but thine has power to move, The silent depths of a sister's love.

O! when my heart for comfort yearns, To thy dear self it fondly turns; And from thy soul response doth come, Which sweetly breathes of "Home, sweet home."

When sorrow's clouds hang o'er the soul, I'm sure thou'll fly, to me condole, To raise my heart from dark despair, To realms of love, to realms most fair.

O! brother dear, no tongue can tell, The love which in my heart doth dwell; No power but thine can sweet assuage, The grief which oft my breast doth rage.

No powers below, no powers above, Can turn my soul from one I love; No earthly gloom, or earthly ill, Can this fond heart with coldness chill.

If of thy friends thou art bereft, One constant heart will still be left, To guide thee through life's devious ways, And cheer with love thy lonely days.

May sorrow never on thee fall, Thy bosom chill, thy heart appal; May happiness within thee glow, And life on earth with blessings flow.

And when, in yon bright Paradise, Our hearts unite in heavenly ties,-We there together in love will roam, In an eternal " Home, sweet home."

For the Patriot. Acrostic, TO MISS BASSETT.

Farewell, dear Teacher, we now must part,-And may we have a cheerful heart, Remembering to well employ Each fleeting moment we enjoy. With pleasure oft shall we review Each happy season spent with you. Long as the Lord shall life sustain, Let friendship in each heart remain. Quincy, March 22.

Can't.

'Tis but a weak, imbecile word, O say it not again: It ne'er to action ever stirred, Or held the wise man's pen.

It never bowed a stubborn will, Or cheered an adverse fate; It never knew a joyous thril But listless says, " I'll wait."

Then never say "I can't " again, Except when urged to sin,-And "I will not" is better then,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed.

It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the retient highest that these twenty were the success. the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruc-tion or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are ap-plicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Ap-petite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the con-sequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required. CONSUMPTION. This remedy has won for itself such notoriety from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for CHILDREN it is the pleasantest and safest medicine

Here, you great lout of a fellow, - what are you about, there, in the man's orchard, skulking along under the fences with a gun in your hand! " Going to shoot the birds." did you say? You lazy, loafing, scapegrace: go home, and go to work about something that will keep you out of the devil's work shop, (idleness) and that will be of some service to the family, that feeds you. Ask your father if he cannot find something useful to do : if not, ask him to get you a chance to learn an honest trade; ask your poor mother who cooks your food, and washes your clothes, makes your bed, and tolerates your lazy person in the house, if she would not like to have some chips picked up, some brought in, or the dooryards raked over, or cordwood cut, some ovenwood split and some flower-beds in the garden made? Tax your ingenuity, if you have any, to find some-"They put their heads together, Peter, as thing to do in or around the house, rather than to move your slab-sided person about the highways, or to be loafing amongst the fields and orchards with gun and amunition in pursuit of the pretty orioles, the redwings, the yellowhammers, and the sweet singing robins and peachbirds. Can a boy, who thinks anything of himself, descend to a lower calling than to be thus engaged, taking the lives of those innocent and beautiful tenants of the field and grove, - lives, which, when he has taken them, are of no possible use or utility to himself or any body else? Quincy Point and Germantown Ferry Company.

The subscribers to the stock of the above notice, and accepted the charter, after preparing the bye-laws, chose Messrs. Samuel Higgins, James Bradford, Jacob Hersey, Foster Brown, and William S. Morton, for

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, William S. Morton, Esq., was chosen President, George Baxter, Secretary, and Foster Brown, Treasurer.

A ferry-boat will be built immediately, and the model adopted is that presented by Mr. Mark Swift, which appears to be admirably suited for the purpose. It is to be moved by acts with a chain attached to the Quincy Point and Germantown shores.

The residents of these two locations have ever needed some other means of communication other than that of being rowed across in boats, and this enterprise will increase the value of the property on both sides of the river, and will give an impetus to the business of both these enterprising localities. When the ferry-boat is in operation, a residence on the Germantown side will be very desirable, both on account of the salubrity of the air, and the quiet and beautiful scenery for which it has ever been noted. And on the Quincy Point side, the business will be much increased, and all Germantown can be supplied from that place, and there will be no necessity of travelling to the Quincy Centre for wood, coal, lumber, and the necessaries of tral Railroad, forthwith.

Quincy Point is prospering rapidly. The frames of two large ships are already landed, and in a short time the builders will commence their labors upon them, when there will be presented a scene of activity which those only understand whose attention has been called to the construction of those beautiful models which has given New England a proud name wherever the wind of heaven can wast them over the wave.

It is a remarkable fact, that among the hundreds of eminent physicians who have examined the recipe by which Bull's Sarsaparilla is prepared, not one has condemned it, but all approved it, and commend it in the highest terms. Many physicians express themselves strongly in the belief that it is decidedly the best preparation of Sarsaparilla that has ever been placed before the public. Although there are many physicians who feel a reluctance to having their names appended to the recommendation of any particular remedy, notwithstanding they may approve of it in the highest degree, there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is expable of doing so much good in an afflicted community. As an evidence, read the following from old and respectable physicians, of high standing in the community in which they live:

TESTIMONY. Testimony like the following renders superfluous all comments on the efficacy of Built's Sarsaparilla. From Medical College: I have looked over the list of ingredients composing John Bull's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, and have no hesitation in saying that they form a safe compound, and one that promises well in thronic diseases, to which it is applicable.

Louisville, March 20, 1848.

I have examined the prescription for the preparation of John Buill's Sarsaparilla, and I believe the combination to be an excellent one, and well calculated to produce an alterative impression on the system. I have used it both in public and private practice, and think it the best article of Sarsaparilla now in use.

For the Patriot.

On the death of Harriet E. Hinckley of this town, aged 17 years.

Sister! thy loved form is lying Peaceful in the grave's still gloom, And the mourning winds are sighing Sadly o'er thy lowly tomb.

Life was opening gay before thee, Wooing to its wearying roam, Bright the stars were beaming o'er thee, When thy Maker called thee home.

By no terror wast thou shaken, When thy spirit might not stay: Like some flower by Spring forsaken, Thou didst fade in death away.

Sister ! while our hearts deplore thee, Once the loveliest of our band, We may trust that Mercy bore thee To the bright and better land.

Hope, by humble faith attended, Points to realms divinely fair; And when life with us is ended, May we rise and meet thee there.

> For the Patriot. Withered Leaves. BY JENNY.

I'll not cherish these leaves, When so rudely they speak Of flowers once levely and bright: Of hopes fondly garlan'd On the breast of devotion, To perish on the wing of its flight.

I would scatter to rude winds Each leaflet and bud That mirrors the past to my sight; When all has departed, Why should I, broken-hearted, Mourn o'er their beauty or blight.

I'll fold no more to my bosom But those lightly chosen, Those gathered 'mid fancy's gay bowers; When the sear shall have touched these, Others as bright weave,

To gladden life's checkered hours. Then away with these dead bodies, O, quickly, and bring The mantle that's wreathing the brow of young Spring; Early flowers, blighted blossoms, O, I would not restore, But thank kind heaven that granteth me mo

Not to myself I live-The whispering sunbeam seems to sav As from the gladdening fount of day, It swiftly wings its cheerful way; This is my being's great design— No selfish wills that light confine, But on the starry world I shine.

Not to ourselves we live-The starry hosts in concert sing; When shadowy eve begins to spring, To others then we freely bring The light that we receive. And blending then the cheerful ray, We come at silent close of day To watch the hours of night away.

Not to ourselves we live-The blooming flowers bring sweet reply, To bless the earth like stars more nigh, Than those that cheer the distant sky, Our life of bloom we give; To other's ears, to other's feet, We breathe to shed our fragrance sweet, That smiles of heaven and earth may meet.

Long experience in the business, and a thorough competency in the Art of Designing, ended to the timely and judicious use of a good purgative. This is alike true of Colds, Feverish symptoms, and Bilious derangements. They all tend to become or produce the deep seated and formidable distempers which load the hearses all ever the land. Cures have been effected beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth.

Did space permit, we could give many hundred certificates, from all parts where the Pills have been used, but evidence even more convincing than

These Pills, the result of long investigation and study, are offered to the public as the best and most complete which the present state of medical science can afford. They are compounded not of the drugs themselves, but of the medicinal virtues only of Vegetable remedies, extracted by chemical process in a state of purity, and combined together in such a manner as to insure the best results. This system of composition for medicines has been found in the Cherry Pectoral and Pills both, to produce a more efficient remedy than had hitherto been obtained by any process. I have examined the prescription for the preparation of John Buil's Sarsaparilla, and I believe the combination to be an excellent one, and well calculated to produce an alterative impression on the system. Myself.

Well, once I was a little girl, A-dwelling far away; My mother made the butter, And my father made the hav.

And I-I wandered, out of school, Amid the woodlands wild, And scorned the teacher's measured rule-A harum-scarum child,

Of thorny lane and meady fair, My frock bore token still; The wind would catch my yellow hair, And braid it at its will.

The sun was busy with my face-And still it shows it some; And, on my neck, I know how high My dresses used to come.

And I was smart, and all the springs On all the hils could show; And, if there were some grammar things, I didn't care to know.

I always knew how many boughs The last tempest broke, And just how far the woodpecker Had girdled round the oak.

I knew the tree where slept the crows; And, on the water's brim, I climbed among the hemlock boughs, To watch the fishes swim.

There was a well filled garret, where I hid on stormy days, And built bright castles in the air, And conned most ancient lays;

For fancy, roamed with joy, Or, from some old and worn gazette, I hacked the rhymes of "Roy.

In mouse-holes rare I hid with care Those relics of the Muse, And wondered who the Poets were That scribbled for the News.

But when once more the skies were fair, And I the woods could win, For books and rhymes that charmed me there I did not care a pin.

My mother saw my garments soiled, And thought it hardly right; But, when I wished to go again, My father said I might.

And now I am a woman grown, And strive to keep my hair Beneath the guidance of my comb, And bind my dress with care.

Through slumps and drifts I do not roam, Nor climb the hemlock trees, Nor hide 'mid cobwebbed trunks at home For fear 'twill raise a breeze.

Through all Life's fettered span, And seek to be in all my ways As " proper " as I can. I never liked the ways of men,

I thread the world's unchanging maze,

Or wished more old to grow, For life was wond'rous curious then, And isn't curious now. I know not how it seemed to me,

Or what my father thought, But mother said I'd never be A woman, as I ought.

I know 'tis hard such children wild In polished rules to train; And, if I were once more a child, I'd-do just so again.

Contentment.

Give me a cottage on some Cambrian wild Where, far from cities, I may spend my days, And, by the beauties of the scene beguiled, May pity man's pursuits, and shun his ways. While on the rock I mark the browsing goat, List to the mountain torrent's distant noise, Or the hoarse bittern's solitary note, I shall not want the world's delusive joys; But with my little scrip, my book, my lyre, Shall think my lot complete, nor covet more.

Anerdotes.

A judge was once about to pronounce sentence of punishment on an Irishmen for theft. "And is it upon the oaths of thim two witnesses yer honor is going to condimn me?" asked Pat. "Certainly," said the judge, "their testimony was amply sufficient to convince the jury of your guilt." "Och! murther!" exclaimed Pat, "to condimn me on the oaths of two spalpeens, who swear they saw me take the goods, when I can bring forth a hundred who will swear they didn't see me do it."

"Tom, a word with you." "Be quick, then ; I'm in a hurry." "What did you give your sick horse the other day?" " A pint of turpentine."

John hurries home and administers the same dose to a favorite charger, who, strange to say, drops off defunct in half an hour. His chan's Hungarian Balsam; Ayer's Cherry Pec opinion of his friend Tom's veterinary ability toral; Hollis's Balm of America; Wistar's and is somewhat staggered. He meets him the Wilson's Balsam of Wild Cherry; Miller's and next day. "Well, Tom."

"Well, John, what is it?" "I gave my horse a pint of turpentine, and it killed him as dead as Julius Cæsar." "So it did mine."

A sailor asked a barber if his beard was worth taking off. After the operation, Mons. Tonson requesting his chink. "What," said the sailor, " Did you not say it was worth taking off, and you've got it." "It seems to me I have seen your physiogomy somewhere before, but I cannot imagine where." "Very likely; I have been the keeper of a prison for upwards of twenty years." It has been said that "to make a happy home, the husband must be somewhat deaf, and the wife somewhat blind."

A NEW and singularly successful remedy for the cure of all Bilious diseases — Costiveness, Indigestion, Jaundice, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Fevers, Gout, Humors, Nervousness, Irritability, Inflammations, Headache, Pains in the Breast, Side, Back, and Limbs, Female Complaints, &c. &c. Indeed, very few are the diseases in which a Purgative Medicine is not more or less required, and much sickness and suffering might be prevented, if a harmless but effectual Cathartic were more freely used. elaborate Monument is executed in the very best style.

Hence a reliable family physic is of the first importance to the public health, and this Pill has been perfected with consumments skill to recent that demand. with consummate skill to meet that demand. An extensive trial of its virtues by Physicians, Professors, and Patients, has shown results surpassing any thing hitherto known of any medicine. Cures have been effected beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Among the many eminent gentlemen who have testified in favor of these Pills, we may mention: DR. A. A. These Pills, the result of long investigation and study, are offered to the public as the best and most complete which the present state of medical science can afford. They are compounded not of the drugs themselves, but of the medicinal virtues only of Vegetable remedies, extracted by chemical process in a state of purity, and combined together in such a manner as to insure the best results. This system of composition for medicines has been found in the Cherry Pectoral and Pills both, to produce a more efficient remedy than had hitherto been obtained by any process. The reason is perfectly obvious. While by the old mode of composition, every medicine is burdened with more or less of aerimonious and injurious qualities, by this each indi-THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY of Massachusetts, insure Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable

STARTLING, BUT TRUE! WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW.

How often it happens, that the wife lingers from year to year in that pitiable condition as not even for one day to feel the happy and exhilarating influence incident to the enjoyment of health. THE BLOOMING BRIDE But a few years ago in the flush of health and youth, and buoyaney of spirits, rapidly, and apparently in-explicably, becomes a feeble, sickly, sallow, debili-tated wife, with frame emaciated, nerves unstrung, spirits depressed, countenance bearing the impress of suffering, and an utter physical and mental pros-tration, arising from ignorance of the simplest and plainest rules of health as connected with the mar-riage state, the violation of which entails disease, suffering and misery, not only to the wife, but often HEREDITARY COMPLAINTS UPON THE CHILDREN "UNTO THE THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATION,"

Transmitting CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, HYPOCHONDRIA, INSANITY, GOUT, KING'S EVIL, and other and worse Diseases, as a DREADFUL INHERITANCE

FROM THE PARENTS.

I must this continue? Must this be? Is t remedy? No relief? No hope?"

The remedy is by knowing the causes and avoiding them, and knowing the remedies, and benefiting by them. These are pointed out in THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION, BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU, PROFESSOR OF DISRASES OF WOMEN. One Hundredth Edition, (500,000), 18mo., pp. 250. Many physicians express themselves strongly in the belief that it is decidedly the best prepa-ration of Sarsaparilla that has ever been placed before the public. Although there are many physicians who feel a public. Although there are many physicians who feel a reductance to having their names appended to the recom-mendation of any particular remedy, notwithstanding they may approve of it in the highest degree, there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good in an afflicted community. As an evidence, read the following from old and respectable physicians, of high standing in the community in which they live:

TESTIMONY. Testimony like the following renders superfluous all comments on the efficacy of Buris sarsaparilla. From Dr. L. P. Yandell, Professor of Chemistry in the Louisville Medical College; I have tooked over the list of ingredients composing John Buil's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, and have no hesitation in saying that they form a safe compound, and one that promises well in chronic diseases, to which it is applicable.

TO ANNE MARIA

Lady, receive this tribute true, 'Tis all that I can give, And in thy spirit's secret view, Let me forever live.

I love thee, lady, though to me This love be ne'er returned; I love thee, though, alas, it be A flame in secret burned.

It cannot be,-strong ties forbid My soul's most fond embrace; And in its deep recesses hid Are thoughts no hand must trace.

Love's duties call another way, Love's ties our faith demand, And faithfulness shall never stray From out this heart or hand.

Yet do I love thee, lady, yet Thy love in faith confess; Fate hath decreed, and since we've met, Nature could not do less.

'Tis nature, then, that prompts me on, 'Tis nature, truth, and love; Lady, thy power has truly won : Witness, the heavens above.

Grace and expression in thee meet Beauty's most rare effect,-Such as the soul of taste might greet, And intellect respect.

Can such a presence all be vain? The guise of much deceit? A loving heart must surely reign Within that form so sweet. CONSTANCE.

-South Quincy Depot-where MONUMENTAL work of every description, from the simplest Grave Stone or Tab-let to the most elegant and been prepared to meet that demand, and an exten-sive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with elaborate Monument is executed in the very best style.

Long experience in the businase of the objections but all the advantages of the objections are the objections of the objection of the o none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruc tion or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Ap-petite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache,

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer oubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being sugar-wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

Although there are many physicians who feel a reluctance to having their names appended to the recommendation of any particular remedy, notwichstanding they may approve of it in the highest degree, there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good in an afflicted community. As an evidence, read the remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good in an afflicted community. As an evidence, read the following from old and respectable physicians, of high standing in the community in which they live:

TESTIMONY. Testimony like the following renders superfluous all comments on the efficacy of Full's Sarsaparilla. From Dr. L. P. Yandell, Professor of Chemistry in the Louisville Dr. L. P. Yandell, Professor of Chemistry in the Louisville Medical College: I have looked over the list of ingredients composing John Bull's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, and have no he-sitation in saying that they form a safe compound, and one that promises well in chronic diseases, to which it is applicable.

What Dr. Pyles, physician by appointment to the Lou sville Marine Hospital, says of Buil's Sarsaparilla: Louisville, March 20, 1848. LOUISVILLE, Marcu e.c.

I have examined the prescription for the preparation of John Bull's Sarsaparilla, and I believe the combination to be an excellent one, and well calculated to produce an alterative impression on the system. I have used it both in public and private practice, and think it the best article of Sarsaparilla now in use.

We have used John Bull's Saraparilla, and have know it to be used, with entire satisfaction; and we have a hesitation in stating our benef, that it is a safe an valuable medical concern, and calculated to preside the top of his procession, says of John Bunt's Sarsaparata.

I have been using John Bull's Sarsaparilla, in a great valuable medical compound, and calculated to preduce much good and reserve much suffering; and therefore would cheerfully and most carnestly recommend it to the E. STEVENSON. We carnestly invite all persons who are suffering with any of "the ills that flesh is heir to," to call on Or. John Buil's agent, and get a copy of Eufl's Family Journal Graffs; and lor the sake of humanity, we hope that a single individual will not be found towaiting to give Bull's Sarsaparilla a fattat, after reading, and recollecting, is the same time, that it is impossible for the flactor to publish the tenth part of the number of criticates of assounding curves performed by his Sarsaparilla. The amount of testiment youthourly showered on Dr. Buil's Sarsaparilla, from well known and distinguished individuals, both in public and private life, has been perfect, overwhelming.

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an exter sive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruc-tion or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are apuse in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scrivy, Colds with success of the body. ula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of season An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and tite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill wil answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being sugar-wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

For minute directions see wrapper on the Box.

CHERRY PECTORAL, COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND

CONSUMPTION. This remedy has won for itself such notoriety from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for CHILDREN it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best that it ever has been, and that the genuine article is sold by -Mrs. E. HAYDEN, SOLE AGENT. Quincy, Oct. 28. DR. S. STOCKING.

STARTLING, BUT TRUE! WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW.

How often it happens, that the wife lingers from year to year in that pitiable condition as not even for one day to feel the happy and exhibitating influ-ence incident to the enjoyment of health. THE BLOOMING BRIDE, But a few years ago in the flush of health and youth, and buoyancy of spirits, rapidly, and apparently in-explicably, becomes a feeble, sickly, sallow, debili-tated wife, with frame emaciated, nerves unstrung, spirits depressed, countenance bearing the impress of suffering, and an utter physical and mental pros-tration, arising from ignorance of the simplest and tration, arising from ignorance of the simplest and plainest rules of health as connected with the marriage state, the violation of which entails disease, suffering and misery, not only to the wife, but often HEREDITARY COMPLAINTS UPON THE CHILDREN

"UNTO THE THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATION," Transmitting CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, HYPOCHONDRIA, INSANITY, GOUT, KING'S EVIL, and other and worse Diseases, as a DREADFUL INHERITANCE

FROM THE PARENTS. "And must this continue? Must this be? Is there no emedy? No relief? No hope?'

The remedy is by knowing the causes and avoiding them, and knowing the remedies, and benefiting by them.
These are pointed out in THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION, BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU, PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN One Hundredth Edition, (500,000), 18mo., pp. 250. ION FINE PAPER, EXTRA MINDING, $1,00.1 A standard work of established reputation, found classed Philadelphia, and other cities, and sold by the principal booksellers in the United States. It was first published

FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES have been sold, of which there were upwards of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND SENT BY MAH. attesting the high estimation in which it is held as a reliable popular Medical BOOK FOR EVERY FEMALE the author having devoted his exclusive attention to the treatment of complaints peculiar to females, in respect to which he is yearly consulted by thousands both in person Here every woman can discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, character, instruction and advice of the utmost importance to her future health, in respect to which her sensitiveness forbids consulting a medical gentleman, will find such instruction and advice, and also explain many symptoms which otherwise would occasion anxiety or alarm as all the peculiarities incident to her situation are described. How many are suffering from obstructions or irregularities peculiar to the female system, which undermine the health, the effects of which they are ignorant, and for which their delicacy forbids seeking medical advice. Many suffering from prolapsus uteri (falling of the womb), or from fluor albus (weakness, debility, &c.) Many are in constant agony for many months preceding confinement Many have difficult if not dangerous deliveries, and slow and uncertain recoveries. Some whose lives are hazarded during such time, will each find in its pages the means of prevention, amelioration and relief.

It is of course impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married or those contemplating marriage. Reader, are you a husband or a father? a wife or a mother? Have you the sincere welfare of those you love at heart? Prove your sincerity, and lose no time in together with a choice selection of Fancy Silk and Granadine Vestings into the latest and most appiness not less than your own. It will avoid to you and yours, as it has to thousands, many a day of pain and anxiety, followed by sleepless nights, incapacitating the mind for its ordinary avocation, and exhausting those means for medical attendance, medicines and advertised nostrums which otherwise would provide for declining years, the infirmities of age and the proper education of your children.

In consequence of the universal popularity of the work, as evidenced by its extraordinary sale, various imposi-tions have been attempted, as well on booksellers as on the public, by imitations of title page, spurious editions, and surreptitions infringements of copyright, and other

It is a remarkable fact, that among the hundreds of eminent physicians who have examined the recipe by which Bull's Sarsaparilla is prepared, not one has con-demned it, but all approved it, and commend it in the demned it, but all approved it, and commend it in the highest, terms. Many physicians express themselves strongly in the belief that it is decidedly the best preparation of Sarsaparilla that has ever been placed before the public. Although there are many physicians who feel a reluctance to having their names appended to the recommendation of any particular remedy, notwithstanding they may approve of it in the highest degree, there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good in a sufficient community. As an explanate read the

What Dr. Pyles, physician by appointment to the Lou sville Marine Hospital, says of Buil's Sarsapacille: Louisvilla, March 20, 1848.

I have examined the prescription for the preparation of John Bull's Sarsaparilla and I believe the combination to be an excellent one, and well calculated to produce an distrative impression on the system. I have used it both in public and private practice, and think it the best

I am a graduate of Transylvania Medical University; I have practiced medicine in this wilderness country, about five years, but owing to exposure to bitter cold weather, re been indisposed with Acute Rheumatism about six months. After having exhausted my skill in the treat-ment of my case, and deriving no benefit, I was induced to give your FLUID EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA a fair trial, and accordingly purchased a bottle of your medicine from your agent, Mr. George P. Brown, about two weeks ago and I must confess that one bottle has entirely cured me It is my opinion, that your preparation of Sarsaparita is decidedly superior to any other preparation now in use, and I will take great pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted as being a remedial agent, and I will advise the physicians to use it in their practice, or

I believe it to be a valuable succedaneum to Mercury.—Nay, I have my doubte whether in the most violent and protracted cases of Syphilis, accompanied with Nodes Trophe, in cartes of the bones, whether it ought not to succeed every other remedy. FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

There has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed.

It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Fain in the side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erwsinelas, Palvitation of the Heart, Pains in the

cessful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but un-necessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength,

when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being sugar-wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

Bobolink BY REV. THOMAS HILL, OF WALTHAM.

Bobolink! that in the meadow, Or beneath the orchard's shadow, Keepest up a constant rattle, Joyous as my children's prattle, Welcome to the north again. Welcome to mine ear thy strain, Welcome to mine eye the sight Of thy buff, thy black and white, Brighter plumes may greet the sun By the banks of Amazon: Sweeter tones may weave the spell Of enchanting Philomel; But the tropic bird would fail, And the English nightingale, If we should compare their worth With thine endless, gushing mirth.

When the ides of May are past, June and Summer nearing fast, From the depths of blue above, Comes the mighty breath of love, Calling out each bud and flower, With resistless, viewless power; Waking hope and fond desire, Kindling the eratic fire, Filling youth's and maiden's dreams With mysterious, pleasing themes; Then, amid the sunlight clear, Floating in the fragrant air, Thou dost fill each heart with pleasure, By thy glad ecstatic measure.

Single note, so sweet and low, Like a full heart's overflow, Forms the prelude,-but the strain Ne'er repeats that note again, For the wild and saucy song Leaps and skips the notes among, With such quick and merry play, Ne'er was madder, merrier lay.

Gayest songster of the Spring, All thy notes before me bring Visions of that dream-built land Where by constant zephyrs fanned, I might walk the livelong day, Embosomed in perpetual May. Nor care, nor fear thy bosom knows, For thee a tempest never blows; But when our northern Summer's o'er, By Delaware or Schuylkill's shore, The wild rice lifts its airy head, And royal feasts for thee are spread And if the winter chase thee there, Thy tireless wings shall own no fear, But bear thee to some southern coast, Far beyond the reach of frost.

Bobolink! still may thy gladness Take from me all taint of sadness, Fill my soul with trust unshaken In that Being who has taken Care for every living thing In Summer, Winter, Fall and Spring

. The old Contribution Box.

It leaned beside the pulpit stair, Or was placed in the old deaf pew; The handle was long and the body was square, And the whole was painted blue.

A collection in aid of the parish poor, Said the parson, ' now we'll take up; Eyes closed again which were open before, And the sleepers would not wake up.

Then the deacon arose with a sober face, As sober as well could be, And he made for the box with a solemn pace, For squeaking boots had he.

Perhaps you may think it was quite too bad, But I know not 'twas a sin,-I laughed to see all faces sad, As the merry cents fell in.

I laughed to see the look of shame In those who had empty pockets, And some moved off, ere the deacon came, Like horizontal rockets.

And I laughed at his vanity or pride, Or what you please to call it, As the deacon stood in the isle so wide, And displayed a leathern wallet, Thought he, 'I AM a shining light, Miss Scandal, -now I'll stop her,-So he held up to view a dollar bright, And then plumped it among the copper.

So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable at-tacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for CHILDREN it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best that it ever has been, and that the genuine article is sold by -Mrs. E. HAYDEN, SOLE AGENT.

Provinces and small places are the servile mitators, if not the slaves, to the larger, and the metropolis. This country has declared and enforced its independance of British political rule, but we have not yet achieved our direction of his hole, feeling uneasy in his independence from the tyranny of European opinion and of French fashion. We betray more weakness in these particulars than in goods of home manufacture. And Lord Jeffries, only thirty years ago, boastingly asked, "who reads an American book?" That sarcasm is now obsolute. But we are still under the influence of foreign cainion for ton much for a manly nationality. We lay down a principle, as invariable as it is sound; that whenever a nation, or a community, depends upon those beyond its limits, more than it 'And remember this,' continued Sam, 'if trusts to itself, it betrays either a conciouswilling to take the position to which it has just claim. And in either case there is no grand self reliance in such a community; no internal strength growing out of its own resources. So the habit fixes itself, that we depend upon what others can do for us, rather than what can be done by us. Such a subservency of a country or state is the proof of a provincial distrust in itself, and is the cause as well as consequence of imitation and dependance. Let any who will learn the lesson of self reliance, coming of a consciousness of ability, not by boasting of it, but by proving it.

Although there are many physicians who feel it reluctance to having their names appended to the recommendation of any particular remedy, notwithstanding they may approve of it in the highest degree, there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good in an afflicted community. As an evidence, read the following from old and respectable physicians, of high standing in the community in which they live:

From Household Words One by One-

One by one the sands are flowing, One by one the moments fall; Some are coming, some are going, Do not strive to grasp them all

One by one thy duties wait thee, Let thy whole strength go to each, Let no future dreams clate thee, Learn thou first what these can teach.

One by one (bright gifts from Heaven)
Joys are sent thee here below; Take them readily when given, Ready too to let them go.

One by one thy griefs shall meet thee, Do not fear an armed band; One will fade as others greet thee, Shadows passing through the land.

Do not look at life's long serrow; See how small each moment's pain; God will help thee for to-morrow, Every day begin again.

Every hour that fleets so slowly Has its task to do or bear; Luminous the crown, and holy, If thou set each germ with care.

Do not linger with regretting, Or for passing hours despond Nor, the daily toil forgetting, Look too eagerly beyond.

Hours are golden links, God's token, Reaching Heaven; but one by one Take them, lest the chain be broken Ere the pilgrimage be done.

Move On-

The march of life should never stay-All things should onward tend; Man should not clog progression's way, But strive to move and mend. The waters move in depths of ocean,

The streams along the dales, And rivulets with onward motion, Through sweet and verdant vales Move on!

The clouds move gently through the sky, The earth rolls ever on; Time swiftly in its course runs by, And years pass one by one. Men, too, should strive to follow them, In this their onward way, Permitting naught the tide to stem, But ever, day by day,

Move on!

Men may be wiser, if they strive,-More virtuous, if they will; And who, within this world, would thrive, Must aim at higher still! Let bigots stand by doctrines on,
The wise will pass them by;
Weak minds may cling with subtle hold,
But strong ones valuantly
Move on!

Like waters rolling to the ocean, Down mountains piled on high,-Like clouds forever in commotion, That move across the sky,-Will we forever onward press, Thus fetterless and free; And deeming virtue happiness, Our watchword ever be,—

Move on!

The Farmer's Boy.

The farmer's boy is a happy boy, A merry lad is he,— He leads a life of hearty joy, He never wants for glee.

He holds his plow and drives his team, He whistles blithe and gay, A monarch well might envy him, His life's so bright alway.

He tills the land and plants the seed, To give the nations bread, How great his work, how vast his deeds! By him the nation's fed.

I love to look on his sun-burnt cheek, And grasp his toil-worn hand; His daily works and ways bespeak The patron of the land.

O, blessings on the farmer's boy, A noble lad is he,— He leads a life of honest joy, O, who like him so free?

Tyranny.

O though to whom an empire's sway is given, Would'st thou be blessed? eschew, then, tyranny, Not by a hundred swords are realms so riven, As by, if just, one suffering victim's sigh.

AYER'S

RS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-contined patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selectivith care.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

There has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstrucunless it arise from a previously existing obstruc-tion or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Eaver Ferrar and Acue Pain in the Side petite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons.

and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appebowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine. Being sugar-wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

For minute directions see wrapper on the Box.

BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION. This remedy has won for itself such notoriety & Potter, P. R. Slater & Co. and D. Faylor, Jr. from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, & Co., Boston. that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evi dences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable at-tacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for CHILDREN it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained.

To sleep her last long sleep ; They have made her grave far, far from her hom Across the waters deep. She left her childhood's sunny home,

The ocean wave to cross, The health which she had lost. But, summer clouds or other lands,

Her health could not restore;

ONSUMPTION claimed her for her own, And now she is no more That house, once gladdened by her smile. And sorrow fills a mother's heart,

And dims a father's brow And sisters' thoughts, no doubt, oft turn To that far distant shore Where sleeps a sister's much loved form, Which they shall see no more.

But, though a mother's loving arm Could not be round her thrown-Though father, sisters, were not there, . She did not die alone.

Friends from her native land were there, Who watched her parting breath-Who stood around her dying couch, And closed her eyes in death.

And sweet the thought that some kind hand Could lay her icy form Within the grave, and follow her To her last silent home.

Beautiful Stanzas

" I will lead them in the ways they have not known ISAIAH XIII. 16.

How few who, from their youthful day, Look on what their life may be ; Painting the visions of the way In colors soft and bright and free How few who to such paths have brough: The hopes and dreams of early thought? For God, through ways they have not known. Will lead his own.

The eager hearts, the soul of fire, Who pants to toil for God and man; And view with eyes of keen desire To upland way of toil and pain; Almost with scorn they think of rest, Of holy calm, of tranquil breast, But God, through ways they have not known, Will lead them home.

A lowlier task is on them laid-With love to make the labor light; And there their beauty they must shed On quiet homes and lost to sight. Changed are their visions high and fair, Yet calm and still they labor there; For God, through ways they have not known, Will lead his own.

The gentle heart that thinks, with pain, It scarce can lowliest tasks fulfil, And, it is dared its life to scan, Would ask but pathway lone and still.
Often such lowly heart is brought To act with power beyond its thought; For God, through ways they have not known, Will lead his own.

And they, the bright, who long to prove, In joyous path, in cloudless lot,
How fresh from earth their grateful love Can spring without a stain or spot-Often such youthful heart is given The path of grief, to walk in Heaven ; For God, through ways they have not known, Will lead his own.

What matter what the path shall be? The end is clear and bright to view; We know that we a strength shall see, Whate'er the day may bring to do. We see the end, the house of God, But not the path to that abode"; For God, through ways they have not known Will lead his own.

The Blacksmith-

O! a mighty man is the blacksmith, With his sinewy arm and strong, And as the world have termed him wright, We will not write him wrong.

He'd blow and strike, and hammer and pound Though a man of peace is he; He's often given to forging. But never to forgery.

He'll screw and twist, and wrench and turn, Though honest in his dealing ; And while he often takes the steel. He never takes to stealing.

His stock is seldom less than par, And often takes a rise; No matter what his virtues are, He's much to do, with rise.

His temper it is always good, Though hard things from his lot; He's often in a " melting mood," And strikes while the iron's bot.

A NEW and singularly successful remedy for the Instruction to this establishment, now opened near the —South Quincy Depot—where MONUMENTAL work of every description, from the simplest Grave Stone or Tablet to the most elegant and elaborate Monument is executed in the very best style.

Long experience in the busielaborate Monument is executed in the very best style.

Long experience in the business, and a thorough competency in the Art of Designing, encry in the Ar This is alike true of Colds, Feverish symptoms, and Bilious derangements. They all tend to become or produce the deep seated and formidable distempers which load the hearses all over the land. Hence a reliable family physic is of the first importance to the public health, and this Pill has been perfected with consummate skill to meet that demand. An extensive trial of its virtues by Physicians, Professors, and Patients, has shown results surpassing any thing hitherto known of any medicine. Cures have been effected beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth.

Among the many eminent gentlemen who have testified in favor of these Pills, we may mention:

DR. A. A. HAYES, Analytical Chemist, of Boston, and State Assayer of Massachusetts, whose high professional character is endorsed by the HON. EDWARD EVERETT, Senator of the U.S. ROBERT C. WINTHROP, Ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives.

New York City, endorsed by Hon. W. L. Marcy, Secretary of State. WM. B. ASTOR, the richest man in America. S. LELAND & Co., Propr's of the Metropolitan Hotel, and others.

Did space permit, we could give many hundred certificates, from all parts where the Pills have been used, but evidence even more convincing than been used, but evidence even more convincing than the experience of eminent public men is found in their effects upon trial.

These Pills, the result of long investigation and study, are offered to the public as the best and most complete which the present state of medical science can afford. They are compounded not of the drugs themselves, but of the medicinal virtues only of Vegetable remedies, extracted by chemical process in a state of purity, and combined together in such a manner as to insure the best results. This in such a manner as to insure the best results. This system of composition for medicines has been found in the Cherry Pectoral and Pills both, to produce a more efficient remedy than had hitherto been obtained by any process. The reason is perfectly obvious. While by the old mode of composition, every medicine is burdened with more or less of acrimonious and injurious qualities, by this each indi-vidual virtue only that is desired for the curative THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY of Massachusetts, insure Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable
